

F. COMMENTS BY THE PUBLIC ON NON-AGENDA ITEMS

- Beth Kim, owner of the Comfort Suites on Kettleman Lane and past president of the Lodi Conference and Visitors Bureau (LCVB), updated Council on the recent accomplishments of LCVB. including Huell Howser's visit to Lodi in October; the televised broadcast of his Lodi show on Thursday, February 7 at 8 p.m. on KVIS Channel 6; the Salmonid Restoration Conference in Lodi from March 5 – 8, which will bring an estimated 400 to 500 attendees and an economic impact of $20,000 to $30,000; and the completion of the 2008 Lodi Community & Visitors Guide, which was produced in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce.
  - Ann Cerney expressed her concern that redevelopment is being portrayed by City staff with only positives and not enough information is being presented regarding the down side of debt. Redevelopment agencies require that 20% of funding be used for affordable housing; however, that has not occurred in California. To date, she has not heard a definitive dollar amount presented to the public, only a conceptual amount, and she stated that she looks forward to more realistic discussions in the future.
  - Dave Hinchman agreed with the comments concerning redevelopment and hoped the public would soon be provided with a more accurate picture. Mr. Hinchman requested the City assume the $1,000 cost to print the list of important phone numbers for senior citizens, which would be mailed out with the City utility bills. This is a helpful resource for seniors and to date very little money has been spent toward Senior Citizens Commission activities. He further believed the City should look closely at its spending.
  - Pastor Glen Barnes with First Baptist Church invited the Council and public to attend the presentation of "Step into Africa World Vision Experience: AIDS." Lodi was chosen as one of 70 cities in the United States to host the interactive experience that will give attendees a first-hand journey into the life of a child impacted by the HIV/AIDS crisis. The event will be open to the public February 28 through March 3, and a special breakfast and exhibit walk through specifically for community leaders from the government, education, business, and medical fields will be held on March 3 from 7 to 9 a.m.

G. COMMENTS BY CITY COUNCIL MEMBERS ON NON-AGENDA ITEMS

- Council Member Johnson asked staff to look into the required landscaping that was to be done at the Archer Daniels Midland facility on the corner of Victor Road and Cluff Avenue. The purpose of the greenery was to screen the facility from the highway; however, the landscaping has yet to be completed.
- Mayor Pro Tempore Hansen reported on the San Joaquin Valley Regional Transportation Planning conference he attended in Stockton, which focused on transportation, financing, San Joaquin Council of Governments (SJCOC) One Voice Trip, Route 99, and high-speed rail. He also attended the Northern California Power Agency annual strategic planning workshop January 23 – 25, at which plans for the upcoming year were reviewed and legislative updates were addressed, and the SJCOC meeting, at which the strategic plan for Measure K renewal was approved. Mr. Hansen reported that the timeline for Highway 12 improvements has moved up from 2011 to 2010. In regard to the upcoming difficult budget year, Mr. Hansen requested Council be informed throughout the entire process, particularly if there are potential layoffs as is happening in other cities. He further questioned if Council will be invited to participate in the recruitment process for Police Chief and Public Works Director.
- Council Member Johnson pointed out that high-speed rail is not the same issue as the commuter rail project that is still moving forward.
- Mayor Mounce reported that she recently attended a League of California Cities event in Sacramento and participated in sessions dealing with educating new council members on how to effectively conduct a meeting, land use planning, ethics training, dealing with the media, financial responsibilities, and audit training. She also attended a Lodi Improvement Committee meeting, at which street sweeping was discussed, and she requested that the results of street sweeping on the various test streets (discussed at a past Shirtsleeve Session) be provided to Council. Ms. Mounce expressed gratitude to the Animal Shelter staff and volunteers for their enduring and heart felt efforts at the outdated facility and requested a Council on-site tour of the shelter. Mayor Mounce wished her mother a happy birthday.

DESTINATIONS

On the Northern California tourism scene, "Lodi Wine Country" is emerging as a popular wine destination. With a spectacular new wine center and a flurry of winery openings, the region is finally attracting the attention it deserves.

Located just 90 minutes from San Francisco and 60 minutes from Napa, Lodi enjoys a similar climate and growing conditions to its coastal neighbors. Lodi produces more wine than Napa and Sonoma combined, yet is only now becoming known in the consumer world.

Lodi. Many consumers may not have heard of Lodi before because most of the wine from the region bore the broad "California" label. A decade ago, only a few labels were produced under the "Lodi" name; now there are over 250. Visitors to the region will be delighted to discover the 70 boutique wineries that dot the landscape, offering a friendly welcome, a relaxing atmosphere and award-winning wines.

The First Vineyards

In 1850, Captain Charles Weber, founder of Stockton, was the first in the region to plant grapes around his home. Two years later, George West of Massachusetts, who first came to California to mine gold, saw those flourishing vines.

West got some cuttings from Weber, and established the first major vineyard in the region just north of Stockton at the southern edge of the Lodi-Woodbridge region.

A good businessman, West could see that California had very few wineries but did have a rapidly growing and thirsty population. In 1858, he built the El Pinal Winery and became the region's first commercial vintner. While West was expanding his vineyards and planting different varieties, growers in the heart of Lodi prospered, farming grain and watermelons.

The Natural Setting

Early explorers to the area discovered a region teeming with wildlife and lush vegetation. The valley floor was covered with towering oaks, grasses, and wildflowers. The rivers were filled with salmon, the skies with migratory birds and the lands rich with deer. Grizzly bears rumbled through the foothills, vast herds of antelope and elk roamed the valley floors and Miwok Indians inhabited the region, hunting and gathering along the rivers.

Grapes were always part of the local landscape, growing wild and dangling from the trees along the riverbanks. Early trappers called one stream "Wine Creek" because of its bounty of wild vines. That river was later renamed the Calaveras River and flows through the southern part of the Lodi-Woodbridge region.

The Tokay

By the late 1880s, the market for grains and watermelons went flat. Farmers began focusing on other crops, but none excelled like grapes. Several different varieties did well in Lodi, but Zinfandel and Tokay stood out above the rest. Farmers especially embraced the Tokay, a versatile table grape with an eye-catching flame color. It was only in Lodi (with its sandy soils and cool delta breezes) that the Tokay would develop its distinctive flame color, laying the foundation for what would eventually become the Lodi Appellation (established 1986).

Some of America's most popular wines are made here, from Mondavi "Woodbridge" to Gallo "Turning Leaf" and Sebastiani "Vendange." Glen Ellen, Sutter Home, Forest Glen, Beringer and Fetzer wines are among the other wines produced in Live life Con Brio!

The Tokay was a delicious table grape that held up well during the long rail trip across country to eastern markets. It could also be fermented into wine, distilled into brandy or fortified into ports and sherries.

Just after the turn of the century, vineyard development thrived, shipping companies emerged and wineries slowly began sprouting up in the Lodi area. The once struggling farmers prospered, and, in 1901, the local newspaper declared that wine production was "the coming industry for this part of the state."

Prohibition

The enactment of Prohibition in 1919 posed a real threat to Lodi wine grape growers. Although some wineries did close and some farmers prematurely tore out their vines, it turned out that Prohibition became a very prosperous time for Lodi growers. The business changed from making wine to shipping fresh grapes. Since home winemaking was allowed under the Volstead Act, the demand for wine grapes actually increased during Prohibition.

Thousands of railcars left Lodi each harvest, full of Zinfandels, Tokays, Alicantes and many other wine grapes.

The repeal of Prohibition in 1933 signaled the rebirth of the Lodi wine industry. Some new co-operatives were formed, many new wineries were built and Lodi wines were once again finding their way across the country. Dessert wines — such as sherry, port and sparkling wines — were the consumer's preference at the time.

The Varietal Wine Boom

Throughout the 1940s and '50s, Lodi prospered with their Tokays, Zinfandels and dessert wines. However, consumer tastes began to change in the 1960s, with table wines and then quality varietal wines preferred. The Tokay, no longer favored by wineries, was dealt another serious blow with the development of the seedless table grape that flourished in the warmer climates south of Lodi. The table grape market completely disappeared, and Lodi growers began focusing on producing quality varietal wine grapes for the blossoming table wine market.

The transition — which began in the late 1960s and climaxed in the mid 90s — saw thousands of acres of grapes converted into premium varietal wine grapes. Buoyed by the reported health benefits of moderate wine consumption and a strong U.S. economy, wineries throughout the state turned to Lodi to supply the growing demand for delicious, affordable table wines.

The Lodi Appellation

The area's transition to premium wines got a credibility boost when the Lodi Appellation (American Viticulture Area) was approved in 1986. Wineries were now able to label their wines with Lodi listed as the grapes' origin.

to describe these gems. The wines feature soft silky tannins, and invite early drinking or will reward a few years aging. Along with its flagship Zinfandel, Lodi's Rhone-style varieties — such as Viognier and Syrah — are showing tremendous promise. Lodi is also the nation's leading producer of popular varieties such as Chardonnay, Sauvignon Blanc, Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon.

Today & The Future

Today, Lodi is home to 70 wineries, hundreds of "Lodi" labeled wines and over 90,000 acres of premium wine grapes. Its growers and vintners combine the best of tradition with the most modern advances of science and technology. It leads the industry in sustainable viticultural practices, preserving the land for generations to come. It is a region where a new generation of growers are rediscovering their rich heritage and setting out to produce world-class wines that rival the best that California has to offer.

As a capstone to the region's rise in popularity, Lodi proudly sports a new 7,000-square-foot Wine and Visitor Center. Visitors will enjoy a myriad of interactive exhibits and displays that are both educational and entertaining, as well as a wine tasting room that features all the region's offerings. Visitors particularly enjoy the relaxed, uncrowded atmosphere of Lodi Wine Country. For more information contact the Lodi Wine Grape Commission (209) 367-4727. ■

Lodi was no longer the wine industry's best-kept secret as awareness slowly began to build for the distinctive quality of Lodi wines. At first, only a handful of small local vintners produced a "Lodi" designated wine, but as the quality and the reputation spread, wineries across the state proudly proclaimed "Lodi" on their wine label.

The Wines

The wines of Lodi are definitely worth seeking out, especially Zinfandel. Full-bodied, fleshy, fruit-forward and flavorful are words that come to mind

Lodi All Veteran's Plaza Memorial

221 W. Pine St.
Lodi, CA 95240

Dedicated on May 22, 2002, the area between Lodi City Hall and Carnegie Forum has been transformed into a state-of-the-art living tribute to our nation's veterans: past, present and future. The plaza incorporates various artistic elements, representing service and sacrifice to our country. The 21.5-foot stainless steel obelisk honors courage and graces the plaza entrance. As you enter the plaza, 13 granite stones are engraved with poetry from historic figures to local artists. An eternal flame (representing valor and sacrifice) is nestled in the center of a 16-foot-high curved granite wall, which serves as a backdrop for a beautiful waterfall.

A 16-ton, hand-hewed solid granite sphere characterizing unity and global service appears to be floating in a blue cobalt pool that symbolizes healing. The effect is dramatic and breathtaking, and is a must-see on any trip to Lodi. ■

OUTDOOR

& RECREATION

Each year, millions of birds leave their nesting grounds in Canada, Alaska and other northern places and fly into California's Central Valley for winter habitat. Many of these birds are looking for a wetland in which to settle, and choose the thousands of acres of nature preserves surrounding Lodi, giving individuals a unique opportunity to view some amazing and rare birds.

The Greater and Lesser Sandhill Cranes are of special interest. Because of their size and large numbers, these birds can be quite spectacular to see. The Greater Sandhill Cranes are a state-listed threatened species, and about 7,000 winter in the Central Valley after breeding in northeast California and central Oregon. Lesser Sandhill Cranes, which are not considered endangered, number about 25,000 in the Valley. The best time to see the cranes is September through February.

Other birds that are likely to be seen include the Pacific Pied-billed Grebe, American White Pelican, Double-crested Cormorant, Least Sandpiper, Western Flycatcher, and many species of hawks, quail, pheasant, egrets, teals, ducks, geese, woodpeckers and even owls for the late evening birder.

Lodi offers many ways to enjoy the outdoors; kayak on the Mokelumne River, swim at the beach at Lodi Lake, visit Micke Grove Park and Zoo, enjoy a round of golf or even experience the thrill of parachuting out of a plane over a beautiful vineyard.

& EVENTS

January-February

No matter what time of year, there are always plenty of places to go, things to do and lots of ways to enjoy Lodi and its people.

In January, there are many key events recognizing accomplishments of our people and celebrating their successes — such as the Outstanding Citizen of the Year Celebration, a fun event that honors a worthy Lodi citizen for his/her contribution to our community. Visit www.lodichamber.com for more information on this event.

Because of Lodi's proximity to the Pacific Ocean, many Lodi not-for-profits have crab feeds as fundraisers for their organizations. If you want an evening full of great food for a great cause, go to the Community Calendar page at www.lodichamber.com.

Around Valentine's Day, visitors can enjoy the Wine & Chocolate Weekend. The area's finest wines are paired with decadent chocolate creations, making for a deliciously romantic experience! Visit www.lodiwine.com for dates and information.

winery for the evening. Merchants provide delicious hors d'oeuvres and offer special sales while the winery pours a tasting of their label to strolling visitors, wine lovers and shoppers. Street entertainers, friendly faces, and the ideal valley weather make this a perfect evening out. Event held in April and October. www.lodichamber.com or call (209) 367-7840 x100 for tickets and information.

Zinfest is another popular wine tasting event that takes place in May. Featuring over 40 local wineries, a dozen regional restaurants, live music throughout the day, vendors and an on-site wine store, this event continues to draw wine lovers to its lovely lakeside location. For tickets and information visit www.zinfest.com or call (209) 367-4727.

Held in April of each year, the Legends of California Wine Auction and Dinner is a celebration of leadership/service in California agriculture — especially the grape and wine industry. The event consists of an auction featuring truly

June-July-August

Every Thursday evening there's "a happening" at the downtown Lodi Farmer's Market.

There are all kinds of offerings, including delicious locally grown fruits and vegetables and food vendors. Visit <http://home.downtownlodi.com> or call (209) 369-8052 for more information.

Because summer days are so invitingly perfect here in Lodi, food and wine outdoors is easily found at many events. Another great event is the Lodi Memorial Hospital Foundation's Summer Fest, held each year during the second week of July at the beautiful Woodbridge Winery of Robert Mondavi. Casual elegance is the de rigueur of fare under the shade of tall valley oaks and cedars. Visit www.lodihealth.org or call (209) 339-7582 for more information.

Concerts in the parks, plays and celebrations of all kinds happen all through the summer. The 4th of July is an evening that makes all Lodians proud. The City and local clubs put together a spectacular fireworks show over picturesque Lodi Lake. The aerial pyrotechnics reflected from the water's surface silhouette thousands of families sitting around the lake. The day is filled with celebration and various events of homespun fun, beginning with the Kiwanis Club Pancake Breakfast — a Lodi tradition. Call (209) 368-4626.

September-October

Harvest time in Lodi is a busy time, and fall is a season of festivals and fairs. As the harvest is completed, members of the community coordinate the Grape Festival at the fairgrounds. The Fair has all the trappings of an old-time country fair — right down to Blue Ribbon quilts, pickles and pies. The fun is oozing out from grape stomp contests to incredible billboard-size murals made from grapes! Of course, there is wine to taste and great food to eat and a carnival for the kids. Visit www.grapefestival.com or call (209) 369-2771 for further information.

The Lodi Street Faire is the largest antique and craft fair for a hundred miles in any direction. Over 700 vendors and exhibitors line world-class wines and dining and entertainment packages. The auction is preceded by a dinner of original foods, paired with featured wines and prepared by the finest chefs and caterers in Northern California. The event benefits the San Joaquin County Historical Society & Museum and the Mieke Grove Zoological Society and has achieved statewide recognition as a not-to-be-missed occasion. For information call (209) 331-2055.

The Lodi Memorial Hospital Foundation holds a very special "home-town" event that is typical of Lodi's ability to care for its own. During mid-May each year, the Foundation takes to the streets and hundreds of 12 downtown city blocks with their creations and collectibles the first Sunday in October. Visit www.lodichamber.com or call (209) 367-7840.

A Taste of Lodi is held on the picture-perfect grounds of Wine & Roses Hotel and Restaurant. Built in 1906, the location is, without a doubt, one of Lodi's most cherished destinations. The winding drive serves as a guide to tasters as it twists through displays of gourmet food offerings, chef demonstrations, jazz music and the finest wines in California. Visit www.tasteoflodi.com. More information is also available at (800) 798-1810.

November-December

The Sandhill Crane Festival is headquartered at Hutchins Street Square early in November. The fest has over 60 wildlife tours going out in all directions. The 6,000 - 8,000 Sandhill Cranes that winter in Lodi are a true spectacle of nature. Each crane stands at approximately five feet, and has a wingspan of seven feet. Every evening, the birds do their "fly-in" at sunset. The sky fills with sorties of these graceful flyers, and the orange harvest sunset provides a colorful backdrop. The Festival has many offerings, including an art show, workshops, storytelling, nature tours, music and dance and hands-on exhibits. Call (800) 581-6150 or visit www.lodichamber.com.

In December, the holiday-decorated downtown area plays host to The Parade of Lights. More than 80 lighted floats make their way through twinkling tree-lined streets, and 40,000 friends and neighbors wave at one another in the glow of the town's Christmas spirit. It is one of the events that truly makes Lodi someplace special. Visit downtownlodi.com or call (209) 369-8052 for more information.

You won't want to miss First Sip, a winter wine event where you can see the wineries decked out in their holiday splendor. At this passport event, visitors can enjoy wine tasting and light appetizers while browsing gourmet food items, unique wine accessories and receiving special discounts. For more information call (209) 367-4727 or visit www.lodiwine.com.

The Annual Festival of Trees at the San Joaquin County Historical Museum is held the first Saturday and Sunday in December. During the event, the Historical Museum at Micke Grove Park is transformed into a wonderland of holiday cheer. More than 60 exquisitely decorated trees, many with heirloom ornaments, are arranged throughout the Museum. Adding to this festive setting will be Santa and Mrs. Claus, wandering carolers and entertainers, wood carvers, weavers and other artisans demonstrating their crafts and selling their wares. For more information call (209) 331-2055.

As you can see from this sampling of events, there is a lot to see and do in Lodi. To find scheduled times, locations and other information for these and other Lodi events, you can contact the Lodi Conference & Visitor's Bureau at (800) 798-1810 or go to www.visitlodi.com, or lodichamber.com and click on Events Calendar. ■

DOWNTOWN

Many Central California city leaders have openly proclaimed their great respect for Lodi city planners. Downtown Lodi is the envy of many mayors throughout the San Joaquin Valley. Lodi has reestablished its downtown's quaint charm while economically charging its central core to once again become the heartbeat of the city for every Lodi citizen.

In the late '90s, the School Street revitalization project was completed. The project involved laying old-fashioned brick streets, inlaid golden sidewalks, informational kiosks, plenty of colorful potted plants and 30-foot tall Sycamore trees. The trees, with broad shade-producing leaves, form a cool canopy over golden sidewalks to create an ideal shopping environment.

Did we say shop? Lodi is unique in the big valley, and our selection of merchandise and creative retailers in the downtown shopping district includes one-of-a-kind boutiques, fashionable furniture stores and great independently owned and operated restaurants with unforgettable dining experiences. From antiques to the region's best Zinfandels and from hot salsas to cool jazz, Downtown Lodi has it all.

Lodi Stadium 12 Theatre is one of the anchors in downtown. The state-of-the-art, stadium-style theater opened in 2001, and today it brings thousands to the downtown scene weekly. After an evening show, you'll see couples and families safely strolling under a cool canopy of stars down School Street, enjoying the crisp Central Valley nights. Many strollers will shop or enjoy a dinner in one of many sidewalk cafes.

For Lodians, the Downtown is a huge source of pride and it shows. The streets are the palettes on which the city paints much of its quality of life. Year-round, the downtown core hosts major events that attract thousands. One of these events, the Lodi Street Faire, boasts over 700 antique and craft vendors the first Sunday in May and October.

The School Street Strolls, which take place in early April and October, place local wineries within the unique shops of Downtown for an evening of great wine, food, and shopping as visitors stroll down the lovely lanes of our historic district.

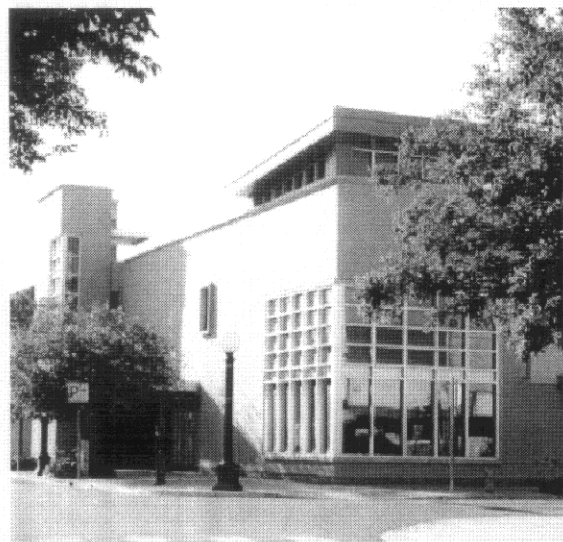

The streets turn electric in early December for the Christmas Light Parade. Eighty-plus lighted floats meander through the streets for the enjoyment of townspeople and neighbors. The Parade is an event that vividly captures the small-town, homespun flavor of our community spirit.

Every Thursday from June to October, it's time for the Downtown Farmers' Market. All kinds of fresh produce from the Lodi area farms and a cornucopia of other attractions fill the streets.

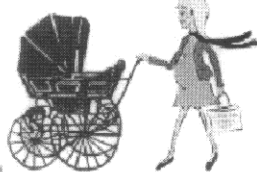

Downtown Lodi is alive with activity year-round, and revitalization is continuing in all directions from the central core. In May of 2006, Lodi celebrated its 100th birthday, and to commemorate the occasion, Lodi had the pleasure of introducing the Walldogs to Lodi. The Walldogs are a group of artists and sign painters who converged en masse on Downtown Lodi for a whirlwind painting spree over one exciting weekend. Over 50 Walldogs, with the participation of many Lodi citizens, painted nine beautiful murals throughout downtown depicting Lodi's rich heritage. These murals add a vibrancy to Downtown and provide a wonderful tour for visitors to Lodi.

IN LODI

Visiting Lodi will satisfy more than just your appetite for great wine. Whether you have a taste for classic Americana cuisine or International fare, '50s-style home cooking, or avant-garde culinary creations, Lodi has something for you.

The restaurant selection in Lodi carries on the unique identity of the city itself, presenting many locally owned and operated restaurants, coffee shops, bars and breweries, as well as regional eateries already familiar to our taste-buds. It is not unusual to see the chefs of Lodi restaurants shopping for fresh, locally grown produce at the weekly Farmer's Market for their evening menu, or to spot them sampling local vintages to add to their wine list already full of Lodi labels. Lodi offers visitors a unique dining experience. From a five-star meal before taking in a concert or play to a decadent dessert and glass of award-winning Zinfandel after a movie, there is surely a restaurant to satisfy every taste.

Golden Ox Restaurant Chef John's menu selections go from an array of sandwiches and hamburgers to prime rib and steak. Patrons also enjoy the Greek influences throughout the menu. The Greek salad is delicious and the grilled lamb chops are to die for! Just about whatever your family's tastes call for you'll find at the Golden Ox. This is a local favorite; diners enjoy the collection of antique and model trains. Over 100 trains and rail cars surround you in all directions and even in motion overhead. It's a feast for your eyes and appetite; ample portions ensure no one ever leaves wanting more.

This is the community that went door-to-door over 50 years ago to raise money to start a community hospital that superbly serves the community today.

This is the community that rescued its old fire-ravaged high school one fundraiser at a time. Personal gifts pledged one after another built a community complex that is second to none in the Central Valley. The facility, Hutchins Street Square, in addition to being the epicenter for the performing arts, galleries the 789-seat theater in Lodi, also serves youth through Camp Hutchins and serves the community's senior population. These daycare facilities are expertly managed, and provide a huge service to the citizenry.

Newcomers to Lodi often feel as if they have gone back in time to a place where civic pride and community spirit are very personal, and the warmth is felt and seen in the greetings of its residents.

Lodi is special because of its people. Lodi has been blessed with great residents. They are people of vision and foresight who strive to maintain a quality of life unequalled in the Central Valley. Besides being a great location nestled between sea and mountains, Lodi is presently enjoying a renaissance and the excitement is infectious.

The Internet in Your Pocket

Convergence Technology puts all the information you use right on your lap(top), PDA or web-enabled cell phone

According to a new report from the Pew Research Internet & American Life Project Survey, a third of Internet users have accessed information wirelessly at home, at work, or while "out and about."

Wireless devices with which people have logged onto the Internet include laptop computers, PDAs, web-enabled cell phones and smartphones (i.e., BlackBerrys, Treos).

The Pew survey results indicated that a quarter of all Internet users have a cell phone that connects to the Internet wirelessly; one in eight use PDAs to make that wireless connection. Some 40 percent of Internet users under age 30 who connect to the Internet via laptop computer do so wirelessly; another 40 percent use their web-enabled cell phones; and 17 percent use wireless PDAs.

The "New Convergence" 2007

At the 2007 Las Vegas Consumer Electronics Show, Gary Shapiro, president and CEO of the Consumer Electronics Association (CEA), spoke about the "new convergence" taking place, forecasting that the consumer electronics industry will soar to $155 billion in 2007.

"Everything is becoming digital and everything with a digital heartbeat will get connected," said Ed Zander, president and CEO of Motorola. "It truly is the Internet in your pocket."

Converged communications, mobile media, wireless, WiFi, WAP — the runaway train hurtling through the digital frontier shows no signs of slowing down; marketers are jumping on board at every stop.

The World is Going Mobile

The 24/7, worldwide connectivity available through these new technologies reiterates what we already know: we're going mobile in almost every aspect of their lives. Consumers are spending less time with traditional media; businesses are seeking ways to reach those consumers through new media.

For example, Gen Y young adults, (ages 18-26) spend 25 percent less time watching TV than Gen X, and 50 percent less time than Baby Boomers. It's predicted that well over $500 billion LESS will be spent on network television advertising this year.

ABI Research found that by 2011, some 250 million users will be making and receiving phone calls over converged fixed-mobile networks and access points — around 10 percent of households and 8 percent of enterprises. In 2006, North America achieved 93.2 percent wireless subscriber penetration.

An Internet Week survey found that traffic, gas prices and irritation with waiting in line are driving consumers to spend more time shopping online than ever before.

Another report indicates that 87 percent of consumers research products online prior to making a purchase. Consistently growing numbers of older adult consumers are regularly buying products online.

One in 10 consumers internationally now buys products and services through their cell phones. The onset of greater imaging capabilities through cell phones and other wireless handhelds will also boost sales.

Nokia's new Ad Service will help advertisers target messages through mobile services and applications.

A Nokia spokesman noted that, "as advertisers struggle to reach personalized targeting with traditional media such as print and TV, mobile advertising is becoming an increasingly attractive channel for brands."

Technology is so advanced that, as the CEO of Acuity Mobile points out, ads can be delivered instantly to web-enabled cell phone users who have agreed to accept them, when and where they expect. A consumer who has approved mobile ads from Jiffy Lube, for example, will receive one as he's approaching a participating location — AND let him know if he's due for an oil change!

The availability of such tools will spur greater investment in new convergence marketing media, and likely grow beyond the dollars invested in traditional media as these new communications platforms and technologies emerge.

Reaching Target Markets

Identifying and researching target audiences is, and has been since the inception of commerce and trade, the bottom-line goal of successful marketing. Convergence technology allows marketers to deliver their sales messages to tightly targeted niche markets and core consumer clusters across multiple media platforms, much more cost effectively than traditional media ever could.

Even before the product rollout and ad campaign begin, research in the form of surveys, product evaluation, even focus groups — all can be conducted in a short period of time with immediate, measurable results through converged communication.

Traditional media may languish to some extent in the coming years, but the ad dollars it generated aren't going away. The media conglomerates are pouring billions of dollars into new media to position themselves in a world of converging and converged communications.

HEALTHCARE

IN LODI

Lodi Memorial Hospital has been a part of the community for over 50 years. Lodi Memorial Hospital is a not-for-profit healthcare provider that has approximately 173 beds. Its mission is to provide quality medical care, education and support services to the community. Currently, Lodi Memorial has two hospital campuses and eight satellite clinics that are used to provide a variety of inpatient, outpatient, urgent, emergency and primary care services. In 2008, the hospital will break ground for the construction of a new, four-story patient wing. Population growth, new technologies, privacy concerns and state seismic regulations all play a part in the need for Lodi Memorial Hospital to expand its inpatient services and Lodi Memorial is eager to continue upgrading to offer the best service possible to Lodi residents.

In addition to providing quality care to the community, Lodi Memorial Hospital is dedicated to providing education and other support services. Ranking among the highest levels in patient satisfaction and patient outcomes, Lodi Memorial Hospital has proven to be a great asset to the community.

Lodi Memorial provides services to fit everyone's needs in the community. Services include intensive care, 24-hour emergency care, maternity, nursery, pediatric, dialysis, acute physical rehabilitation and surgical services.

Services are provided to all despite income, and a free clinic is available for those who do not have insurance.

The hospital's vision is to provide a system of healthcare services that are clinically effective, quality driven and community focused in an environment that supports and encourages excellence. In partnership with its medical staff, Lodi Memorial assumes accountability for the health of the community, is responsible for illness and injury prevention and provides care for the ill and injured. It measures its success on quality outcomes and customer satisfaction.

Other services include home healthcare, an urgent care clinic, four primary care clinics, a pre-natal clinic and a pediatric clinic.

The Lodi Primary Care Medical Center was formed in 1995 by a group of practitioners who wanted to provide more medical options to their patients. The Center has grown into a practice of 22 primary care practitioners. Of the 22 practitioners, there are 15 family practitioners, six internists, three pediatricians and one physician assistant.

The Center's goal is to provide the best medical care while being cost-effective for patients and their families. LPCMC works with the community to serve both adults and children in and around the Lodi area.

The Delta Radiology Medical Group also serves the Lodi area. The Delta Radiology Medical Group serves St. Joseph's Medical Center, Lodi Memorial Hospital, St. Dominic's Hospital and San Joaquin Hospital.

The group has 15 board-certified radiologists who provide outpatient services in Lodi, Manteca and Stockton. Services in Lodi include state-of-the-art MRIs, mammograms, bone density studies, ultrasounds, CT scans, X-rays and open MRI. The Delta Radiology Group is dedicated to bringing the latest technology to its patients, providing the only digital mammogram that has computer aided detection and utilizes digital X-rays. ■

GOVERNMENT

I N L O D I

Operations of Lodi government are overseen by a five-member City Council elected to four-year terms by the city's residents. City Council members are elected in the month of November during the even-numbered years. The City Council establishes local laws, sets policies, approves programs, appropriates funds and supervises the operations of city government.

The City Council selects Lodi's Mayor and Mayor Pro Tempore each year. The Mayor acts as the ceremonial head of the city and as the officiator of the Council meetings. The Mayor Pro Tempore presides in the event of the Mayor's absence.

Boards and commissions play a large role in Lodi, serving in an advisory capacity to the Lodi City Council. Boards and commissions review specific matters and report to the Council with recommendations. The City of Lodi invites residents to volunteer for the city boards and commissions. It is a great way for residents to give back to the community.

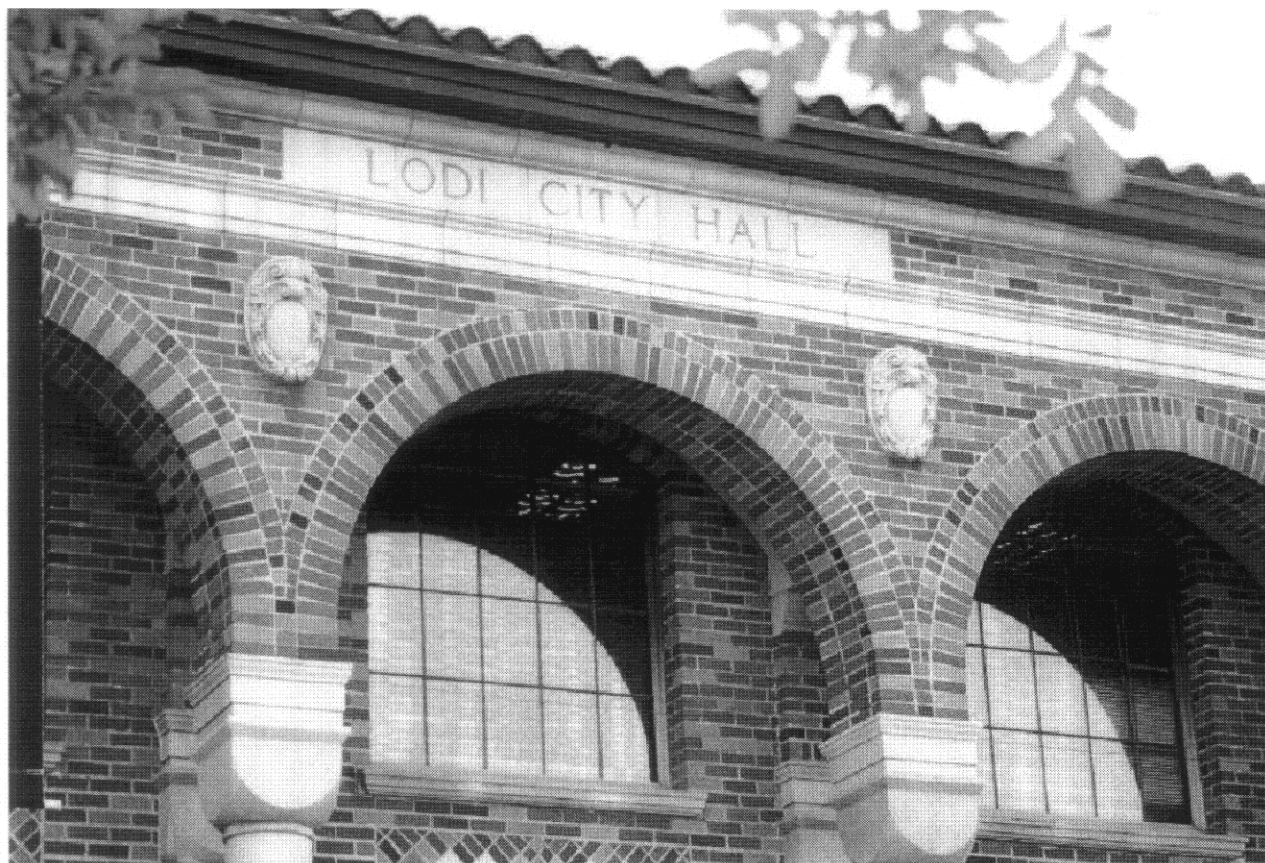

Lodi has five police districts and four fire stations, and utilities are provided by Lodi Electric Utility — a customer-owned, city-operated utility. ■

& SHORT DRIVES

When you are in Lodi, you are only a short-drive from fascinating historical sites, beautiful scenery and a wide variety of things to see and do.

Lodi is central to Northern California and all it offers — the ocean, metropolitan cities, snow-covered mountains, lush valleys and rolling hills. It's all a short drive from Lodi.

East to the Hills & Mountains

Within a one-hour drive east of Lodi, you can experience the places where California's famous gold rush began — California Gold Country. In 1849, gold was discovered in the foothills of the Sierras; today, you can still try your luck and pan for nuggets yourself.

For more information visit www.visitcalaveras.org or www.yosemitegold.com.

The foothills are filled with antique stores, a variety of artists and their work, Wild West memorabilia and much more, making Gold Country towns fun for the whole family. For more information, visit www.sonoraca.com or www.jacksoncasino.com.

In the winter, famous resorts — such as Squaw Valley and Heavenly Valley — on the western slopes of the mountains, offer world-class skiing. Tahoe National Forrest is a thriving and vast winter playground for winter sports and activities of all kinds. Visit www.heavenly.com or www.fs.fed.us/Tahoe.

Gold Country is also becoming well-known as a winemaking region. Many wineries can be easily accessed from country lanes that wind through the picturesque hills and scenic highways.

Yosemite National Park

Yosemite National Park — located in the Sierra Nevada Mountains of central California — is a setting so spectacular and awe-inspiring that it is often referred to as the "Crown Jewel" of the National Park system. Earthquakes, glaciers and other forces of nature over millions of years left indelible footprints on the landscape that are still visible in the towering granite cliffs, thundering waterfalls, steep mountains and deep alpine lakes. They beckon visitors to explore, climb, photograph and experience their grandeur. The Park, open year-round, is like four separate parks in one, with each season offering a truly unique and new experience. Whether its cascading waterfalls in the spring, quiet snow-filled meadows in the winter, breathtaking autumn colors or star-spangled summer nights, the beauty of Yosemite is constantly changing. Each season is not only a feast of visual delights, but also offers its own set of programs, tours and sports.

Encompassing 1,170 square miles, an area the size of the state of Rhode Island, this unique destination offers both expansive wilderness as well as the guest services and amenities you would find at a year-round resort.

North to Sacramento & Capital Region

California's Capital Region is less than an hour to the north of Lodi, and features many museums, beautiful government buildings and a myriad of entertainment options. For more information, visit www.sacramento-cvb.org.

A favorite destination is Old Sacramento alongside the Sacramento River. The historical charm of 1849 has been maintained here amidst a plethora of trendy restaurants, nightspots and shops of all kinds. Visit www.oldsacramento.com for more information.

Catch a Sacramento Kings game or see AAA baseball right across the river in Sacramento. More information is available at www.rivercats.com and www.nba.com/kings.

West to the Delta

The Delta is to the west of Lodi, and is where the rivers that traverse the state from east to west meet with the water of the Pacific coming inland from San Francisco Bay. The region is famous as a waterfowl refuge and is the winter home for 6,000-8,000 Sandhill Cranes.

The Delta offers great houseboating and exploration of the hundreds of islands and tributaries. Keep a watch to starboard and port as all kinds of seagoing vessels, from sailboats and water-skiers to merchant marine cargo ships, churn up the deep-water channel eastward to the Port of Stockton.

Visit www.californiadelta.org for more information on the Delta. More information on boating can be found at www.deltahouseboats.com and www.laidbackboaters.com.

South to the Great Central Valley

The great San Joaquin Valley lies to the south of Lodi, and is commonly known as the food basket of the United States and the world.

All types of fruits, vegetables, nuts, beans and berries grow here. Valley cities — such as Stockton and Modesto — offer many agriculture-related tours, museums, tasting rooms and specialty shopping. The Hispanic culture is abundant and culturally influential throughout the valley. For more information, visit www.modchamber.org.

South East to the Bustling City

Less than two hours drive from Lodi is the exciting city of San Francisco. Stroll along the Embarcadero, shop the Ferry Market and Pier 39, or take a tour of famous Alcatraz Island. For more information, visit www.onlyinsanfrancisco.com or www.sfchamber.com.

Jackson Rancheria Casino & Hotel

Just a short drive from Lodi, Jackson Rancheria Casino & Hotel is the place for big shows, great gaming, excellent service, fine dining, and superb lodging. Enjoy over 1,500 slot machines, more than 50 tables, plus a 24-hour Poker Room, and Bingo four days a week. There are also nine restaurants featuring everything from a quick snack to the best in casual dining. The hotel includes 146 oversized guest rooms and suites, an outdoor pool and Jacuzzi, fitness center, family friendly video arcade, gift shop, and complimentary valet and luggage assistance. Major concerts and Global Knock-Out mixed martial arts events are scheduled throughout the year. A luxurious RV Park is scheduled to open in early 2008.
